

Blueprint custom iconography

Before / after · branch feat/custom-icons · June 10, 2026 · Raves Inc.

Blueprint's interface chrome previously borrowed its iconography from the emoji set — fast to ship, but mixed in weight, off-brand in color, and inconsistent across platforms. This pass replaces every chrome emoji with a purpose-drawn SVG glyph set: one visual family, tinted by the surrounding text color so it adapts to light and dark themes, with several glyphs drawn specifically for Raves' business (a drafting set-square logomark, a storefront with awning for store prospects, a hard hat for vendors). Card-level content emoji are unchanged by design.

One grid
Every glyph is drawn on a 24×24 grid with a shared safe margin, so icons align optically at any size.

One stroke
1.75px strokes, round caps and joins, no fills — the set reads as a single hand.

Theme-aware
Glyphs inherit the surrounding text color, so hover, active and dark mode tint them automatically.

Native-ready
Semantic names (board, ledger, spend...) map one-to-one to SF Symbols for the iOS app.
